City of Kingston

Historic Is Just Our Beginning

The City of Kingston offers many layers to explore. Founded in 1651, in the foothills of the Catskills along the Hudson River, Kingston is one of the original large, early Dutch settlements in the New World (the other two settlements became New York City and Albany). Initially called the town of Wiltwyck, it eventually merged with the neighboring port town of Rondout, and renamed 'Kingston' in honor of the British sovereign. Ironically, Kingston is where independent-minded colonists wrote the New York State Constitution in 1777, and where the state's first capital was established. It was then promptly burned to the ground by the invading British army! Luckily, many of the original stone structures remain.

Kingston's unique role in history did not stop after the eighteenth century. It became an important commercial and transportation hub, especially after the opening of the groundbreaking, 108-mile D&H (Delaware and Hudson) Canal – trade routes which were later expanded by railroad, with Kingston remaining a prime centerpiece. In the nineteenth century, Kingston was an important source of agriculture, timber, coal, bluestone slate, bricks, and cement for the growing nation. In the twentieth century, Kingston became home to technology businesses, and more recently home to many nationally recognized creative-based specialty manufacturers. Each commercial wave of history has made its mark on Kingston, evidenced today by its fascinating and diverse architecture and landscape.

Today, Kingston has a thriving creative community, featuring a diverse selection of galleries, festivals, concerts, public art displays, and more. There are several neighborhoods to explore, each with its own character – Uptown and the Stockade District, Midtown, and the Rondout Waterfront. For those who love to shop, Kingston has many charming boutiques, stores, and antique shops to explore. Gourmands of every kind can revel in Kingston's diverse range of restaurants, many retaining local graduates of the nearby world-renowned Culinary Institute of America. Being situated near some of the most productive farmland in New York State, Kingston enjoys a bountiful and fun Farmers' Market. Outdoor enthusiasts will find that Kingston is ideally situated amidst an exciting range of recreational locales, with beautiful landscapes perfect for hiking, biking, kayaking, skiing, boating and much more. And, of course, there is its rich history – Kingston has many museums to enjoy, reflecting its many layers of history and culture.

Uptown Stockade District

The Matthewis Persen House, first built in 1661

Wiltwyck, Uptown Kingston is the largest remaining example of early Dutch settlement in New York State. In 1777, Uptown Kingston's Senate House is where the first capital of New York was established, and visitors can explore many historic sites and museums that represent that era.

Uptown Kingston today is a thriving neighborhood with many shops, restaurants, museums, galleries, music venues, farmers' markets, festivals and more.

Though abundant public parking is available, the area is best enjoyed on foot. It boasts a highly diverse range of architectural details for visitors to explore, a chronology of American architecture that spans four centuries: from the early Dutch and English, to Federalist, Georgian, Greek Revival, Victorian, Romanesque, Italianate, Neo-Classical, Art Deco and Contemporary.

Kingston's Uptown neighborhood is where visitors will find many fine examples of America's early colonial history. The first permanent settlement was built in 1652. Governor Stuyvesant ordered the original stockade built in 1658 to protect the early settlers from local Indian attacks. Originally called

Stockade National Historic District Walking Tour

2014 Tour dates: May 3, June 7, July 5, August 2, September 6, and October 4

Enjoy a guided walking tour of the largest intact early Dutch settlement in New York State and the neighborhood where New York State was born in 1777. View a treasury of centuries-old architecture as you walk the heart of the original stockaded village of Kingston whose street plan was designed by Provincial-Governor Peter Stuyvesant in 1658. View a large cluster of native limestone houses built by descendants of the early settlers. Visit the courthouse site where the New York State Constitution was drafted, and the gravesite of George Clinton, New York's first elected governor, in the Old Dutch Church burying ground. The tour concludes with a visit to the interior of the circa 1812 Fred J. Johnston House.

Fee: $10 adult; $5 child under 16. Free to Friends of Historic Kingston (FHK) members.

Walking tour offered on the first Saturday of the month, May through October, departing at 2 pm from the FHK Gallery, corner of Wall and Main Streets. Group or private tours can be arranged by special appointment: (845) 339-0720.

Old Dutch Church

272 Wall Street

Often referred to as "The Cathedral of Kingston," the Old Dutch Church, a National Historic Landmark, was a part of the Dutch Colonial village of Wiltwyck, the original church structure was built on the present site in 1660. The present church structure is the third to be sited on the same plot of land. The church maintains a museum that houses many historical records and artifacts. The Old Dutch Church Heritage Museum archives are available for public research. If you are interested in genealogical research please contact

The Senate House State Historic Site

296 Fair Street

In the fall of 1777 the elected representatives of rebellious New Yorkers convened in Kingston to form a new state government. New York's first capital was born. The session, New York's first Senate, met in a simple stone house of a local merchant. Now part of a complex of three buildings, the Senate House tells the story of New York's early government, and gives a taste of life in the Hudson Valley 200 years ago. Open April thru October plus special events during and after season. (845) 338-2786. ### Ulster County Courthouse

285 Wall Street

Built in 1818 in the late Georgian style, the courthouse was erected on the same site where the original smaller limestone county courthouse stood. It was in the original Ulster County Courthouse that the New York State Constitution was written and adopted on April 20, 1777. New York's first freely elected governor, George Clinton, took the oath of office at the courthouse. www.nps.gov/nr/travel/kingston/k7.htm

Volunteer Firemen's Hall & Museum

265 Fair Street

Housed in the 1857 Wiltwyck Fire Station, it is a wonderful example of the evolution of a firehouse from the operation of horse-drawn equipment to the operation of late twentieth century fire equipment. The Kingston Fire Department can trace its origin back to 1754 when a fire engine was ordered from England. The hours of operation are May, September and October, Friday and Saturday, 11 am to 3 pm; June, July & August, Wednesday, Thursday & Friday, 11 am to 3 pm; Saturday, 10 am to 4 pm. ## Midtown Kingston Midtown Kingston reflects a history of industry and expansion. Following the opening of the railroad in the mid-nineteenth century, which ran between (Uptown) Kingston and Rondout, there was a natural growth towards the new transportation line. When the two villages merged, City Hall and other municipal features were built in this newest part of the city. Visitors will find an eclectic mix of shops, music venues, restaurants, specialized manufacturing (many related to the arts), microbreweries, city government offices, Kingston Hospital, and many fine examples of Victorian and early twentieth century architecture.

Places to Visit in Midtown Kingston

City Hall

420 Broadway

City Hall is a red brick building in a late Victorian architectural style dating to 1873. It sits on what had been the boundary between the villages of Kingston and Rondout prior to their merger to form the City of Kingston. City Hall is on the National Register of Historic places.

The Historic Rondout Waterfront District “Downtown” Kingston

Rondout Creek Waterfront

The Rondout neighborhood is located on the shore of Rondout Creek near where it meets the Hudson River. Initially a key port for the shipment of timber and agriculture to the colonies and beyond, the area boomed with the opening of the Delaware and Hudson Canal in 1828; it became a trade hub for coal from Northeast Pennsylvania, bluestone from the Catskill Mountains, cement from Rosendale, and bricks made from local clay. The area grew so rapidly that it incorporated as the Village of Rondout in 1849, and by 1872 it merged with the then-Town of Kingston to form today's city. By the time the canal closed in 1899, the port area featured buildings in all the nineteenth century architectural styles.

Charmingly framed by the Kingston-Port Ewen Suspension Bridge, built in the 1920s, the neighborhood is referred to locally as the Rondout or the Strand (sometimes known to visitors as 'Downtown' as well). The Kingston Marina is located in the Rondout, a great place to book a ride on one of several tour boats of the Hudson River, and view the Rondout Lighthouse. The neighborhood is invitingly walkable and has a waterfront park, many charming restaurants, boutiques, and captivating architecture. There are several museums, art galleries, antique shops, and gift shops to explore. The Kingston Heritage Area Visitors Center is also in the Rondout Waterfront District. The neighborhood was added to the National Register of Historic Places in 1979.

Rondout National Historic District Walking Tour

2014 Tour dates: May 31, June 28, July 26, Aug 30, September 27, and October 25

Hear how immigrants and entrepreneurs transformed farmland into a thriving maritime village that mushroomed during the era when Rondout was the terminus for the Delaware and Hudson Canal that opened in 1828. View the rich legacy of commercial buildings, cast-iron storefronts, homes and churches built by the many nationalities that emigrated to Rondout, and hear about the personalities who played key roles in the development of Kingston's waterfront district. Some uphill walking is involved.

Fee: $5 adult; $2 child under 16. Free to FHK members.

Walking tour offered the last Saturday of the month May through October, departing at 11 am from the Heritage Area Visitors Center, 20 Broadway.

Kingston Point Beach and Park

Kingston Point Beach is located at the end of Delaware Avenue in Downtown Kingston.

Hours: dawn to dusk

The land of Kingston Point Park has a long and intriguing history. Beginning in 1897, Kingston Point has been a "must see" for visitors for over 100 years, with its beautiful views of the Hudson River, Rhinecliff and the surrounding natural areas, Kingston Point Park is an oasis in our urban city. Over the years, Kingston Point has evolved from its early days as an amusement park to a place of solitude and beauty. Kingston Point has over 87 acres of open space, and a 2-acre portion of the park called Rotary Park at Kingston Point.

Kingston Point Beach amenities include: Pavilion (Available for Rental); Seasonal Bathrooms; Seasonal Concession Stand; Picnic Area; Volleyball Courts; Playground; Free Kayak, Car top and Small Motorized Boat Launch; Guided Kayak Tours (Seasonal); Hudson River Swimming (Lifeguards Seasonal); Bird watching

Rotary Park at Kingston Point amenities include: Pavilion (Available for Rental); Seasonal Bathrooms; Picnic Area; Softball Fields; BMX Track; Nature Trails; Trolley Landing; Fishing; Bird watching

Rondout Lighthouse

Located on the Hudson River where it meets the Rondout Creek. Originally constructed in 1837, the current lighthouse, built in 1915, is the newest lighthouse on the Hudson River. www.kingston-ny.us

"Is high-end BBQ an oxymoron?" ask buffs who've savored the 'gourmet twists' at this Kingston spot serving up 'huge portions' of 'fall-off-the-bone ribs,' 'great fixin's' and, to wash it all down, 'a beer list featuring local selections;' meanwhile, a 'family-friendly' attitude and 'extremely nice' staff provide warmth' - Zagat

Healthy starts here

It is said that a healthy life, is a happy life. So why wait until there is an issue to care for your well-being? By aligning with local physicians, we're working to improve the patient experience and level of care for a healthier community, and a happier tomorrow because our greatest priority...is you.
