Fact Sheet – Emergency Tenant Protection Act in Kingston, New York

On July 28, 2022, the Common Council of the City Kingston passed Resolution 144 of 2022 to declare a housing emergency. That Resolution, based on a careful study of local housing conditions, allows Kingston to opt into the Emergency Tenant Protection Act (ETPA). Mayor Steve Noble signed the legislation on July 29, 2022. The effective date of this legislation is August 1, 2022.

The ETPA is a State law that balances the needs of tenants and property owners by controlling rents in select properties. In Kingston, the ETPA will stabilize rents in buildings constructed before 1974 that have six or more units. In addition to regulating rent increases, ETPA ensures that the residents in covered buildings receive essential services and protection from eviction, except on specified grounds.

What if I have questions or need help?

In the City of Kingston, the administration of ETPA is managed by the New York State Division of Homes and Community Renewal. For additional information about the implementation process, including resources in Spanish, see <https://hcr.ny.gov/rent-stabilization-and-emergency-tenant-protection-act>.
